INFORMATION ON THE TECHNICAL ADVISORY GROUPS (TAG)

INTER-AMERICAN COMMITTEE ON PORTS (CIP)
INFORMATION ON THE TECHNICAL ADVISORY GROUPS (TAG)

INTRODUCTION

The present document summarizes information of the Technical Advisory Groups (TAG) of the Inter-American Committee on Ports (CIP) including its objectives, functions, and financial information.

The Technical Advisory Groups (TAG) are organs established by the CIP of the Organization of American States (OAS), whose principle objective is to provide technical advice for the Committee on specific aspects of hemispheric port sector development. All member States of the OAS have the right to form part of an established TAG by appointing a specialist in port sector issues. In addition, port administration and operating entities, academic, scientific, business, financial, and development institutions related to port sector activities, that have legal standing, may participate in all the activities of the TAG which they are connected in as associate members, with a voice but without vote.

To date there are four TAG in operation:

- TAG on Port Operations
- TAG on Port Security
- TAG on Navigation Safety
- TAG on Environmental Port Protection

TAG ON PORT OPERATIONS

Creation: First Meeting of the CIP, Resolution CIDI/CIP/RES. 3 (I-99), Guatemala City, Guatemala, 1999.

Purpose: To advise the Inter-American Committee on Ports on the multiple aspects of port operations (except for those directly related to port security and environmental protection, as well as the topics and functions of the other TAG established) so that port authorities will have the information and means necessary to make the best decisions to help improve the efficiency levels of port systems.

Functions:

- (i) To compile and exchange information on port operations, which includes the use of specialized information technology systems in this area.
- (ii) To design and maintain a database with information relevant to its work.
- (iii) To identify training needs.
- (iv) To prepare specialized reports, studies, and technical documents.
- (v) To organize national and international meetings and activities on specialized topics in this area.
- (vi) To report to the Chair of the Executive Board, in writing, every six months, on the progress and results of its work.
- (vii) To prepare proposals and recommendations on policies and strategies and present them to the Inter-American Committee on Ports through the Executive Board.

Member States: Mexico (Chair), Barbados, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Jamaica, Peru, Saint Lucia, Suriname, United States, Uruguay, and Venezuela.
