

Lilly G. Ching-Soto

Lilly G. Ching-Soto - Costa Rican Attorney - studied International Relations, obtained her Law Degree at the University of Costa Rica and earned her Master's Degree in International Human Rights Law at the University of Oxford, United Kingdom. She has over 20 years of experience at the Organization of American States. Currently Mrs. Ching-Soto is the Resident Representative of the OAS in Saint Lucia. Prior to that, she was a Principal Specialist in Human Rights at the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights (IACHR) where she coordinated the "Admissibility" Section (2018-2019); the "Registry" Section, in charge of the initial review of petitions (2015-2018); the "Andean I" Section, responsible for Ecuador, Venezuela and Colombia (2010-2015) and was part of the "Court Group", which provided support in litigating cases before the Inter-American Court of Human Rights (2003-2010). Previously she worked in several capacities within the Inter-American System, as a lawyer for the Inter-American Court of Human Rights (2001-2003), a Rómulo Gallegos Fellow at the IACHR (2000-2001), and an assistant in the legal area of the Inter-American Court (1998-2000).