

Luiz Fernando de Moura

Luiz Fernando de Moura has a degree in Forest Engineering at the University of São Paulo (Piracicaba, SP, Brazil) in 1998. He graduated first in 1998 Forest Engineering class of the University of São Paulo, and obtained seven prizes from the University, Wood Industries and Engineering Associations. Just after graduating, he participated in a Pulp and Paper sustainability project at Auburn University (Auburn, AL, USA).

In 1999, he was invited to a Master degree program in Wood Technology at Laval University (Sainte Foy, QC, Canada), under the supervision of Professor Roger E. Hernández. He earned the Philosophiæ Doctor degree, at the same University, in 2006. Currently, Mr. de Moura is working in the field of projects for sustainability and good practices for wood processing and utilization, in partnership with Professor José Otávio Brito and M.Sc. Warwick Manfrinato.