Did you know that the OAS offers financial aid for studies in the United States?

The Organization of American States (OAS), through the Rowe Fund program, grants interest-free loans to Latin American and Caribbean students.

If you are an F or J student visa holder and have been admitted or are currently enrolled in the last two years of undergraduate, graduate, or post-graduate studies in an accredited U.S. University, you may qualify for funding of up to $15,000.

According to the Institute of International Education (IIE) - Open Doors report, there were 301 students from Guyana studying in the U.S. during the 2019-20 academic year. Overall, the number of international students enrolled in U.S. universities surpassed one million, with only 80,204 of these from the Caribbean and Latin American region. Within this number, Mexico, Brazil, Venezuela, and Colombia combined represent 56.93% of inter-national students from the region while Haiti represents just 0.38%.

In existence for over 70 years, the Rowe Fund program was established out of an endowment left by Dr. Leo S. Rowe, former Director General of the Pan American Union, a predecessor of the OAS.

Learn & share:
www.oas.org/en/rowefund
www.facebook.com/rowefund
rowefund@oas.org

By financing a portion of their studies in the United States, the Rowe Fund helps international students complete their education while fostering cultural diversity, friendship, and communication among the people of the Americas.