About University degrees and Official Degrees:

In most countries, universities offer its degrees, which are designed by their institution and endorsed by their reputation. In Spain, there are official programs and university programs. The official programs include the endorsement of the university that gives the degree and the State's recognition. On the other hand, university degrees are ensured by the recognition of the university or educational center that gives the degree, and its recognition is more oriented to contribute to the development of the student's professional career. These degrees are more aligned with the current demand of the market, which is why it provides specialized training for professional development and a more immediate knowledge update. Official degrees are regulated by the National Agency of Quality Education and Accreditation (ANECA for its Spanish acronym). The Structuralia's degrees are University Programs.

To know more about the implication of these different degrees, and the type approval and validation required in OAS member states, you are encouraged to consult directly with your Ministry/Department of Education or any other public entity in your country.
