In the event that the OAS concludes that the reasons indicated by the Scholarship Recipient do not adequately justify not initiating or abandoning the program, the Scholarship Recipient will reimburse the OAS and/or the Institution directly for the funds invested in their scholarship. Failure to do so prohibits the Scholarship Recipient from being considered for future OAS or Institution scholarships and will constitute a reason for the OAS to take legal action.

ABOUT UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

The University of Oregon (UO) is one of just 62 research institutions in the U.S. and Canada that are members in the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU). The UO is home to nearly 90 graduate degree programs, many of which, due to their outstanding faculty and research accomplishments, have received national and international recognition. According to the Graham-Diamond Report, the faculty in the UO's College of Arts and Sciences ranks 15th in the nation among public research universities. US News and World Report consistently ranks the College of Education graduate program as among the best in the U.S.

ABOUT THE OAS PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The Department of Human Development, Education and Employment (DHDEE), of the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States (GS/OAS), offers scholarships to citizens and permanent residents of the OAS member states, providing a vital investment in human capital through its Professional Development Scholarship Program (PDSP).

PDSP scholarships are offered through cost sharing partnerships with OAS member states, OAS permanent observer states, regional and international organizations, public and private agencies, philanthropic and commercial institutions, institutes of higher learning, or in coordination with other areas of the GS/OAS.

RESULTS

The OAS will publish the results on its website www.oas.org/scholarships. The OAS will only contact selected candidates.
