What we need next—political and economic support

Because by providing information on biological diversity, we can help the hemisphere develop more effective plans for sustainable development.

2 pages of examples using biodiversity data—one invasives, one health, one forests?

Request to the Summit:

The Summit should reiterate its support for the IABIN process and development in statement and in follow-up action. Nations in the region should redouble their efforts to develop national nodes and content for the IABIN network.
