ACCESS TO PUBLIC INFORMATION AND PROTECTION OF PERSONAL DATA^{1/}

(Adopted in the fourth plenary session, held on June 6, 2013)

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY,

RECALLING resolution AG/RES. 2727 (XLII-O/12) on access to public information and protection of personal data, and its previous resolutions on that topic; reiterating the background and mandates contained therein, and having seen the Annual Report of the Permanent Council to the General Assembly (AG/doc.), as it pertains to the status of compliance with resolution AG/RES. 2727 (XLII-O/12);

RECALLING that access to public information, on one hand, and protection of personal data, on the other, are fundamental values that must operate in harmony at all times;

REITERATING the vital role of international instruments in the promotion and protection of access to public information, as well as the essential role of access to public information in electoral and democratic processes; in state governance, transparency, and anticorruption efforts; in the protection and promotion of human rights, especially the right to freedom of thought and expression; and in freedom of the press;

RECALLING that the principle of maximum disclosure is consubstantial to access to public information;

REAFFIRMING the importance of the Model Inter-American Law on Access to Public Information in the promotion of access to public information, as well as the role of member states, the General Secretariat of the Organization of American States (OAS), and civil society and other social actors in implementing the Model Law;

TAKING NOTE of the proposed Preliminary Draft Inter-American Program on Access to Public Information (CP/CAJP-3135/13) presented by the Department of International Law at the meeting of the Committee on Juridical and Political Affairs held on April 11, 2013, pursuant to resolution AG/RES. 2727 (XLII-O/12);

1 Ecuador, Nicaragua, and Venezuela wish to place on record that they have serious reservations regarding the legitimacy of, and the methodology employed by, the Office of the Special Rapporteur for Freedom of Expression.

CONSIDERING the growing importance of privacy and the protection of personal data, and the need to encourage and protect cross-border flows of information in the Americas;

BEARING IN MIND that the privacy and protection of personal data whose disclosure could harm legitimate rights of its legal bearer is one of the exceptions to access to public information;

TAKING NOTE that the General Secretariat has accepted the invitation of the Ibero-American Data Protection Network (RIPD) to participate in said network as a permanent observer; and

TAKING NOTE ALSO of the comparative study on different existing legal regimes, policies, and enforcement mechanisms for the protection of personal data, including domestic legislation, regulation, and self-regulation (CP/CAJP-3063/12), presented by the Department of International Law; of resolution CJI/RES. 186 (LXXX-O/12), "Proposed Statement of Principles for Privacy and Personal Data Protection in the Americas," adopted by the Inter-American Juridical Committee; and of the meeting of the Committee on Juridical and Political Affairs held on November 13, 2012, with the participation of the Inter-American Juridical Committee, the member states, and the General Secretariat, in order to analyze the studies received on personal data protection and consider the possibility of a regional framework in this area,
