THE LIMA DECLARATION IN FAVOR OF WOMEN'S RIGHTS⁶

WHEREAS:

Women, representing more than half of the population of America, demand full rights as an act of the most elementary human justice;

Women have participated effectively, with a high sense of responsibility, in the historical development of all the countries of America;

In the economic order women are a factor of primary importance, not only as producers but also as controllers and directors of the basic economy of the home;

They have amply demonstrated their ability in every phase of culture and human activity;

Their high sense of responsibility as mothers entitles them to the enjoyment of all of their rights; and

The women of America, before demanding their rights have assumed all of their responsibilities in the social order, thus setting the greatest example of conscientious patriotism,

The Eighth International Conference of American States

- a. To political treatment on the basis of equality with men;
