About the Organizers...

The Organization of American States brings together the nations of the Western Hemisphere to strengthen on democratic values, defend common interests and debate major issues facing the region and the world.

The Inter-American Committee on Ports (CIP) is the permanent inter-American forum and principal advisory body on ports for the OAS member states. Its principal objective is to promote development and hemispheric cooperation at the highest government level, in the port sector, with the participation and active collaboration of the private sector.

The North American Marine Environment Protection Association is an independent, marine industry-led association committed to preserving the marine environment through educating seafarers, port communities and students about the need and strategies for protecting this important global resource.
