REPORT OF THE RAPPORTEUR
OF THE FOURTH REGULAR SESSION
OF THE INTER-AMERICAN COMMITTEE AGAINST TERRORISM

REPORT OF THE RAPPOREUR
OF THE INTER-AMERICAN COMMITTEE AGAINST TERRORISM

Introduction

As Rapporteur of the Fourth Regular Session of the Inter-American Committee against Terrorism (CICTE), allow me to submit to this plenary the report on the issues that were taken up during this session of CICTE.

I. BACKGROUND

At the Third Regular Session of CICTE, held in El Salvador in January 2003, the offer by Uruguay to host the Fourth Regular Session was accepted. Subsequently, during the preparatory meetings leading up to this session, under the chairmanship of El Salvador, it was decided that the meeting would be held on January 28, 29, and 30, 2004, and the draft order of business and schedule for the meeting were adopted.

It is important to note that the General Assembly of the Organization of American States adopted Resolution AG/RES. 1964 (XXXIII-O/03), in which, among other things, it urged CICTE to foster an ongoing dialogue among member states with a view to adopting preventive measures to anticipate and cope with emerging terrorist threats. It also expressed appreciation to member states and permanent observers, and to the Inter-American Defense Board, for their contributions to the CICTE Secretariat and for their support for implementation of its work plan. It further instructed the General Secretariat to continue providing administrative support to the CICTE Secretariat and to the fourth regular session of the Committee.

II. INAUGURAL SESSION

In accordance with the draft schedule, the inaugural session of the fourth regular period of sessions of the Inter-American Committee against Terrorism was opened at 6:00 p.m. on January 28, 2004 in the Ball Room of the Hotel Radisson, Victoria Plaza, Montevideo.

The President of the Republic of Uruguay, His Excellency Jorge Batlle Ibáñez, opened the CICTE session.

Following that, the plenary heard statements from Ambassador Margarita Escobar, Permanent Representative of El Salvador to the Organization of American States, as the Chair of CICTE, Roberto Casañas, Director of the Office of the OAS General Secretariat in Uruguay, who read out the statement of the OAS Assistant Secretary General, Ambassador Luigi R. Einaudi, Ambassador Guillermo Valles, Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Uruguay, and Dr. Elias Bluth, Deputy Minister of National Defense.

III. DEVELOPMENT OF THE WORK

1. First Plenary

According to the Draft Schedule, at 7:00 p.m. on January 28, 2004, the Chair of CICTE called the first plenary to order. Before taking up the items to be considered at that meeting, she proceeded to give a brief survey of the Third Meeting of National Points of Contact held prior to the opening of the fourth regular session of CICTE. She also reported that the Venezuelan government had deposited its instrument of ratification of the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism.

a. Adoption of working documents

The proposed Order of Business and Schedule, drafted at the preparatory meetings, were considered, and both documents were adopted without change (CICTE/doc. 2/04 rev. 1 y CICTE/doc. 3/04 rev. 2).

b. Report of the Chair

In compliance with Article 25 of the CICTE Rules of Procedure, Ambassador Escobar presented the Report of the CICTE Chair (2003-2004), contained in document CICTE/doc.4/04. In that report, she referred to the entry into force of the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism. She also made reference to cooperation between CICTE and other entities in the inter-American system, in an effort to avoid duplication of activities in this area and to promote coordination among them. She went on to provide information on the results of the meetings of National Points of Contact that had been held and on the contributions of the governments of Argentina, Brazil, Canada, Chile, El Salvador, United States, Peru, and Trinidad and Tobago, in addition to those of Spain, an OAS Observer State. She also encouraged OAS member states and permanent observers to continue their contributions to CICTE's work.

She then spoke of the workshop of experts on the subject, which was held in San José, Costa Rica January 20-23, 2004, with the participation of the states parties to the Convention. She also mentioned the specialized technical assistance provided by the CICTE Secretariat, together with the International Monetary Fund and the Spanish Government, to the Bolivian Financial Intelligence Unit and to the Peruvian Government, in conjunction with the inter-institutional workshop on anti-terrorist laws.

c. Election of Officers

- Chair

At the proposal of the head of the Brazilian Delegation, which was seconded by the head of the Delegation of St. Vincent and the Grenadines, the plenary elected Uruguay by acclamation to the Chair of CICTE. The nomination was accepted by Elias Bluth, Under-Secretary of National Defense of Uruguay and head of its delegation to this session.

- Vice-Chair

After the head of the Venezuelan Delegation made the proposal and the head of the Delegation of Belize seconded it, Trinidad and Tobago was elected by acclamation as Vice-Chair of CICTE. The Minister of National Security and Rehabilitation, Martin R. Joseph, accepted the election on behalf of his country.

- Rapporteur

At the proposal of the head of the Canadian Delegation, seconded by the head of the Salvadoran Delegation, Carlos Chocano of the Delegation of Peru was elected as Rapporteur of the Fourth Regular Session of CICTE.

2. Second Plenary

At the second plenary session held on January 29, 2004, from 9:45 a.m. until 1:20 p.m., there was a Dialogue of Heads of Delegation on the subject of “Effective hemispheric strategies for the prevention, detection, and elimination of terrorism, taking into account particular subregional and national circumstances.”^{1/}

The heads of delegation spoke during the dialogue in the following order: Trinidad and Tobago, Argentina, Nicaragua, United States, Costa Rica, Peru, Canada, Brazil, El Salvador, Venezuela, Chile, Mexico, Colombia, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Bolivia, Paraguay, Bahamas, Surinam, Dominican Republic, Panama, and Guatemala.

During these statements, three major themes were highlighted: reaffirmation of the commitment to fight terrorism; the role of CICTE; and training and assistance.

- Reaffirmation of the commitment to fight terrorism

A number of delegations emphasized the commitment of member states to take the necessary steps to prevent, combat, and eliminate terrorism with full respect for the rule of law, fundamental freedoms, human rights, international humanitarian law, and international law on refugees. An effort should be made to ensure that this action does not affect freedom of trade, the free movement of persons, or migratory flows.

Emphasis was placed on the importance of adherence by member states to the United Nations conventions on terrorism and of ratification, as appropriate, of the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism.

In addition, reference was made to the fact that the Special Conference on Security (October 28-29, 2003, Mexico City, Mexico) and the Special Summit of the Americas (January 12-13, 2004, Monterrey, Mexico) endorsed the political determination of member states to join forces to fight terrorism.

1. The declarations of the Heads of Delegation submitted to the Secretariat in writing have been published and are available on the CICTE web page: www.cicte.oas.org.

They also confirmed their commitment to fulfill the commitments undertaken in the framework of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) and the International Maritime Organization (IMO).

Delegations referred to progress in developing anti-terrorist legislation in their countries, taking into account international instruments on the subject, such as Resolution 1373 (2001) of the United Nations Security Council, the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism, and relevant United Nations conventions, and they made special reference to the establishment of financial intelligence units and border control mechanisms. They also spoke of the implementation of new security measures in ports and airports.

- Role of CICTE

A large number of delegations emphasized the need to strengthen the role of CICTE through dialogue and cooperation among member states, both bilaterally, and on a subregional and regional level.

In addition, some delegations referred to the fact that one of the main functions of CICTE is to develop assistance and training programs in the context of its work plan, in areas such as the following ones: regional and national workshops on adaptation of domestic legislation, in order to comply with obligations under international legal instruments; methods for investigating and detecting terrorist financing; border control; and, security in ports and airports.

Moreover, they said that there was clear evidence of the need to promote greater coordination among the different international and regional organizations involved in counter-terrorism, so as to confront terrorism in an integral manner, encourage complementarity, and avoid duplication of efforts in fulfilling these functions.

Delegates were in favor of strengthening the role of the national points of contact, and referred to the need for CICTE to keep the permanent missions of the OAS member states informed at the same time. Similarly, note was taken of statements by various delegations to the effect that the terms of reference defining the modus operandi of relations between CICTE and the points of contact in member states should be clearly and precisely spelled out in the study of the draft CICTE Rules of Procedure.

- Cooperation and technical assistance

Various delegations reported that their governments were interested in offering training courses in specific areas of the fight against terrorism. They also highlighted the importance of mutual legal assistance, the need to have a clear and effective exchange of information, and mutual confidence-building.

They emphasized the importance of promoting cooperation, in order to help member states in their efforts to implement the new rules and standards established by ICAO and IMO.

There was also an important exchange of views on the use of new technologies and methods used by terrorists. Emphasis was placed on the importance of redoubling efforts in the areas of cybernetic security and infrastructure, especially at airports and ports.

Some states referred to the impact of social factors in creating conditions conducive to terrorism, but they pointed out at the same time that nothing justified terrorist acts.

- Workshop on drafting legislation

The head of the Costa Rican Delegation, Ambassador Arnaldo Brenes Castro, Advisor in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and chairman of the Workshop of Government Experts, convened by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), together with the CICTE Secretariat and the International Monetary Fund (IMF), gave a brief survey of the conclusions and recommendations resulting from that event, held in Costa Rica January 20 to 22, 2004.

The purpose of the workshop was to discuss proposed national laws to implement the universal anti-terrorist instruments listed in Article 2 of the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism, and United Nations Security Council Resolution 1373 (2001).

3. Third Plenary

The Chairman called the third plenary to order at 2:30 p.m. on January 29th. The Chair offered to summarize the statements made by the heads of delegation in the course of the dialogue. He said that a commitment could be deduced from it, as well as measures and action that the member states had taken as part of their anti-terrorist efforts, and that in fact a hemispheric strategy can be proposed, in accordance with domestic legislation and in the light of international instruments in force in this area.

- a. Verbal report of the CICTE Secretariat on the reports of member states

The OAS General Assembly, in its Resolution AG/RES. 1964 (XXXIII-O/03), requested that member states report to the fourth regular session of CICTE on measures adopted to implement the recommendations on financial and border controls agreed at the third regular session, and that, if they have not yet done so, they provide copies of their most recent reports on measures adopted to implement UN Security Council Resolution S/RES/1373 (2001) (operative paragraph 9 c).

The plenary heard the CICTE Secretariat's verbal report on the reports of member states submitted to date, in compliance with the aforesaid resolution. It was reported that the CICTE Secretariat had so far received reports from Argentina, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Dominican Republic, Surinam, Nicaragua, Trinidad and Tobago, and Uruguay. The Executive Secretariat underlined that the reports were in compliance with the General Assembly mandate.

The Secretary referred to the replies of member states to the CICTE Questionnaire, and pointed out that Panama was the first member state to ratify both the twelve United Nations conventions and the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism.

b. Cybernetic security

As chairman of the working group of the Permanent Council's Committee on Hemispheric Security in charge of drafting a proposed strategy on cybernetic security for the member states, Ambassador Margarita Escobar proposed that "a hemispheric national points of contact network be established, to operate 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, comprising "Computer Security Incident Response Teams (CSIRT)," which would have national responsibility (national CSIRTs) in OAS member states and would be in charge of responding swiftly and appropriately to crises, incidents, and threats related to cybernetic security."^{2/} She pointed out that the political will of member states would be required to establish the national CSIRT teams, which would be part of a regional coverage of CSIRT, and would provide the OAS with the necessary institutional framework to proceed.

In view of the instructions issued by the General Assembly regarding preparation of a proposed cybernetic security strategy for member states [AG/RES. 1964 (XXXIII-O/03)], Ambassador Escobar pointed out that CITEC and REMJA had determined their contributions to this project, and that the contribution of CICTE was pending. It was suggested that a meeting of experts on the subject from member states be held to determine CICTE's contribution.

In this regard, the Canadian Delegation offered to host the proposed meeting of experts at the end of March 2004.

The plenary endorsed the proposal and accepted the offer to host the meeting, on the understanding that the CICTE Chairman and Canada would determine the precise date and agenda of the meeting in due time.

c. Follow-up to the Special Conference on Security

As regards follow-up to the Special Conference on Security, the plenary heard a presentation by Ambassador Miguel Ruiz Cabañas, Permanent Representative of Mexico to the OAS and head of the Mexican Delegation to the Fourth Meeting of CICTE. In the course of that statement, Ambassador Ruiz Cabañas said that the high level of the participants, the approval by acclamation of the Declaration on Security in the Americas, and the transparency of the negotiations, in which civil society, experts, and academicians participated, all contributed to the success of the Conference. He further referred to paragraphs 22 and 23 of the Declaration, which, among other things, emphasize the commitment to combat terrorism and its financing, with full respect for the rule of law and international law, and the commitment of member states to strengthen the CICTE and bilateral, subregional, and hemispheric cooperation, through the exchange of information and mutual legal assistance to prevent and repress the financing of terrorism.

Similarly, the head of the Mexican Delegation highlighted paragraphs 43 and 45 of the Declaration, which refer to the role that the Committee on Hemispheric Security should play in the struggle against terrorism.

2. Refer to the information document on this network, CICTE/INF.4/04.

d. Draft Declaration of Montevideo

The plenary began discussing the proposed Montevideo Declaration, and after agreeing on stylistic changes proposed by some delegations and the addition of a new declarative paragraph, it decided to continue consideration of this Declaration at the fourth plenary.

e. Proposed amendments to the CICTE Statute

The plenary took up the proposed amendments to the CICTE Statute (CICTE/doc.7/04), and adopted them without change.

However, some member states made comments on the proposed amendments to the CICTE Statute, as follows:

Chapter I: Nature, principles, and purposes

Article 2, which establishes that “the functions of CICTE are civil in nature,” does not prevent the participation of military personnel in CICTE or cooperation with military organizations, such as the Regional Security System of East Caribbean States, in fulfilling the CICTE mandate.

Development of global, integrated responses to terrorist threats may require civil/military cooperation and specialized military know-how.

Chapter III: National Points of Contact

Article 6, which establishes that “CICTE will address all communications to member states through the national point of contact designated for this purpose,” should not be interpreted as affecting the requirement that the permanent missions of member states are kept informed through the CICTE Secretariat.

Bearing in mind that Article 17 of Chapter VII indicates that the CICTE Secretariat should “maintain direct and continued coordination with the permanent representatives of the members states of the Organization [. . .],” it is suggested that the requirement of maintaining adequate channels of communication, and the issue of the terms of reference of the National Points of Contact be developed in greater detail when the amendments to the Rules of Procedure are considered, after the General Assembly adopts the proposed amendment to the CICTE Statute.

Chapter V: Functions

It was noted that the reference made in Article 13(f) to “ensuring the guarantees of due process in accordance with domestic legislation” is only one aspect of respect for human rights, and that this Article should be interpreted in the context of the broader references to human rights contained in other parts of the Statute. Moreover, the comment was made that the term “due process” is not generally used in international instruments and that its use in this specific case should not be considered as a precedent for the future.

4. Fourth Plenary

The fourth plenary began at 8:00 a.m. on January 30, 2004.

a. Declaration of Montevideo

The proposed Declaration of Montevideo, as amended in the previous meeting, was considered and adopted. It is important to note that the Declaration renews the commitment of CICTE member states to prevent, combat, and eliminate terrorism and its financing, among others; highlights the role of CICTE as the entity responsible for promoting consultation, dialogue, and cooperation; underlines the urgency of adopting measures to promote cooperation and the exchange of information, in addition to mutual legal assistance and security of all modes of transportation; and, recognizes the link between terrorism and other crimes. The Declaration also urges states to sign, ratify, or adhere to the Inter-American Convention against Terrorism, and the twelve United Nations conventions and protocols on terrorism.

Interpretative declaration by the head of the Mexican Delegation

The head of the Mexican Delegation, at the end of his intervention to propose amendments to the Montevideo Declaration, asked the rapporteur to include in his report an interpretative declaration to elaborate on paragraphs 5 and 15 of that document which, in the view of that delegation, should have been worded as follows:

• Paragraph five:

“... in order to prosecute and punish all those persons responsible, directly or indirectly, for planning, facilitating, financing, and committing acts of terrorism, ensuring due process and respect for the principle that the punishment should be commensurate with the offense committed.

• Paragraph fifteen:

“... the obligation to deny them safe haven and asylum, and to prevent their territories and official documents from being used by those who, directly or indirectly, plan, support, or commit terrorist acts, and to those...”.

b. Consideration of the proposed CICTE Work Plan

The plenary discussed the proposed CICTE Work Plan (CICTE/doc.5/04). It adopted the amendments proposed by delegations.

c. Inter-agency cooperation

The plenary then turned to consideration of inter-agency cooperation in counter-terrorist efforts, within the framework of the relevant international instruments. Presentations on this topic were published by the Secretariat.^{3/} Note was taken of the information presented by each of the speakers listed in the meeting's schedule.

On the subject of inter-agency cooperation, the plenary heard the following presentations:

- i. The CICTE Secretariat reported that its activities were described in the Report of the Chair contained in document CICTE/doc.4/04. It also gave a detailed presentation on cooperation with other subregional, regional, and international organizations, including the IDB, World Bank, CFATF, the Advisory Committee of CIFTA, IACHR, CITEC, FATF, GAFISUD, the G-8 Action Group against Terrorism, the Specialized Working Group on Terrorism, MERCOSUR, IMF, the Inter-American Defense Board, the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, the International Organization on Migration, PAHO, REMJA, and the Regional Security System (RSS);

Finally, the CICTE Secretariat reported on new aspects of the CICTE Work Plan related to security in airports, ports, customs, and cybernetic security. It is worth noting that, after concluding this report, delegations commended the efforts of the CICTE Secretariat to strengthen coordination with other organizations, which had enhanced the effectiveness of the work, and thereby avoided a duplication of efforts;
- ii. David Carriedo, from the Permanent Mission of Spain to the United Nations (Spain chairs the UN Security Council's Committee against Terrorism), on progress made in implementing UN Security Council Resolution 1373 (2001) and on the problems perceived in implementing that Resolution;
- iii. Michael Vreedenburg, head of the ICAO Regional Aviation Security Office for North America and the Caribbean;
- iv. Ambassador Horacio Serpa, the Colombian Permanent Representative to the OAS and head of the Colombian Delegation, reported on the activities carried out by the Secretary pro tempore of CIFTA (currently held by Colombia);
- v. David Beall, Executive Secretary of CICAD;
- vi. Dr. Rubén Perina, Coordinator of Strategic Programs of the Unit for the Promotion of Democracy (UPD) of the OAS Secretariat, and José Antonio Almendariz, Vice-Chairman of the Central American Interparliamentary Committee; and
- vii. Mrs. Sheila Donovan, Director of the Program Development Department of the Inter-American Agency for Cooperation and Development.

3. See Annex I – List of documents published by the Secretariat, document CICTE/doc.6/04 rev. 1.

The Chairman offered the floor to the General Coordinator for the Second Conference on Secure Trade in the APEC Region, who spoke of the activities developed by the Forum for Asian Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC). He referred to the importance of the upcoming conference, to be held March 5 and 6 in Viña del Mar, Chile, where the subjects of air and maritime security, the movement of persons, and establishment of financial intelligence units will be discussed.

d. Place and date of the Fifth Regular Session of CICTE

The Delegation of Trinidad and Tobago offered to host the Fifth Regular Session of CICTE, to be held in the first quarter of 2005. The plenary accepted this offer, and its decision on this matter is contained in Resolution CICTE/RES. 3/04.

5. Fifth plenary

a. Report of the Rapporteur

The Rapporteur presented a summary of the work accomplished during this regular session, and highlighted the substantive issues discussed during the Dialogue of Heads of Delegation. Some delegations requested the inclusion of matters related to the meeting's order of business.

b. Adoption of the documents of the Fourth Regular Session

i. Amendments to the CICTE Statute and the corresponding proposed resolutions

The proposed amendments to the CICTE Statute were approved, as agreed at the third plenary (CICTE/doc.7/04 rev.1), and a resolution was adopted to this effect (CICTE/RES. 2/04 rev. 1). In addition, it was agreed that the proposed amendments, along with a draft resolution (CICTE/RES.1/04 rev. 1), would be submitted to the General Assembly for its consideration at its twenty-fourth regular session.

ii. CICTE Work Plan

The proposed CICTE Work Plan was adopted, as reflected in document CICTE/doc.5/04 rev. 2.

iii. Declaration of Montevideo

The proposed Declaration of Montevideo was adopted, as reflected in document CICTE/DEC.1/04 rev. 3.

Finally, the meeting adopted by consensus Resolution (CICTE/RES.4/04), presented by the Delegation of Trinidad and Tobago, which expresses the gratitude of the member states to the people and government of the Republic of Uruguay for their hospitality, and their appreciation to Dr. Elias Bluth, Deputy Minister of National Defense of Uruguay, for his chairmanship of the Fourth Regular Session of CICTE.

The closing session took place at 12:35 p.m.
