Evaluation of Progress in Drug Control

Implementation of Recommendations from the Fifth Evaluation Round

2012
PREFACE

The Multilateral Evaluation Mechanism (MEM) is an instrument designed to measure progress in actions taken by the member states of the Organization of American States (OAS) to address the global drug problem and other related offenses.

The Inter-American Drug Abuse Control Commission (CICAD), an OAS specialized agency, implemented this Mechanism in 1998, pursuant to a mandate from the Second Summit of the Americas held in Santiago, Chile in April 1988.

The MEM is not only a diagnostic tool but has also become a vehicle for disseminating information on the progress achieved through the individual and collective efforts of OAS member state governments, catalyzing hemispheric cooperation, promoting dialogue among member state government authorities, and precisely channeling assistance to areas requiring greater attention by optimizing resources.

The evaluation reports are drafted by the Governmental Expert Group (GEG), a multidisciplinary group composed of experts designated from all OAS/CICAD member states. Each expert functions independently from his or her own government, and experts do not participate in the evaluation of their own countries. Additionally, each country has the opportunity to review and comment on the contents of the evaluations, ensuring an open and participatory process.

The Fifth Evaluation Round, covering the period 2007-2009, consisted of two phases. The full evaluation phase assessed progress made by all member states in combating the drug problem in the subject areas of institutional strengthening, demand reduction, supply reduction and control measures. This culminated with the publication of national reports containing 350 recommendations for individual member states. The follow-up phase evaluated progress made in the implementation of the recommendations assigned in the Fifth Round.

CONCLUSIONS

Saint Vincent and the Grenadines was assigned fifteen recommendations, of which thirteen are reiterated from previous evaluation rounds. Two recommendations were completed, two are in progress, and eleven have not been started.

CICAD observes that Saint Vincent and the Grenadines is awaiting approval of the draft expanded curriculum which includes a drug prevention component and has applicability to secondary schools. CICAD also observes that Saint Vincent and the Grenadines has assigned a person to coordinate the training of personnel in the management of the control of chemical substances.

CICAD notes with concern that the majority of the eleven recommendations not started are reiterated. These include recommendations in the areas of Institutional Strengthening (to approve a national anti-drug plan that serves as the framework for all anti-drug activities, establish a national anti-drug authority, ratify The Inter-American Convention against Illicit Manufacturing of and Trafficking in Firearms, Ammunition, Explosives and Other Related Materials – CIFTA, accede to the Inter-American Convention on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters, accede to the United Nations Convention Against Corruption), Demand Reduction (to establish official operating standards for drug abuse treatment), Supply Reduction (to conduct training courses for public and private sector personnel handling pharmaceutical products, implement a control mechanism to monitor and prevent the diversion of controlled chemical substances), and Control Measures (to carry out research and training activities related to the prevention and control of illicit traffic of pharmaceutical products and other drugs via the internet).

Additionally, the recommendations to conduct a drug use survey among secondary school students, and to provide specialized treatment services for drug use related problems have not commenced.

CICAD recognizes that Saint Vincent and the Grenadines has tried to participate fully in the Multilateral Evaluation Mechanism (MEM), but notes with concern the lack of progress on the implementation of recommendations, the majority of which were assigned in the First and Fourth Evaluation Rounds. CICAD continues to support the efforts made by the country and encourages Saint Vincent and the Grenadines to take steps to implement the recommendations assigned, and participate fully in the MEM process.
