Evaluation of Progress in Drug Control

Implementation of Recommendations from the Fifth Evaluation Round

2012
PREFACE

The Multilateral Evaluation Mechanism (MEM) is an instrument designed to measure progress in actions taken by the member states of the Organization of American States (OAS) to address the global drug problem and other related offenses.

The Inter-American Drug Abuse Control Commission (CICAD), an OAS specialized agency, implemented this Mechanism in 1998, pursuant to a mandate from the Second Summit of the Americas held in Santiago, Chile in April 1988.

The MEM is not only a diagnostic tool but has also become a vehicle for disseminating information on the progress achieved through the individual and collective efforts of OAS member state governments, catalyzing hemispheric cooperation, promoting dialogue among member state government authorities, and precisely channeling assistance to areas requiring greater attention by optimizing resources.

The evaluation reports are drafted by the Governmental Expert Group (GEG), a multidisciplinary group composed of experts designated from all OAS/CICAD member states. Each expert functions independently from his or her own government, and experts do not participate in the evaluation of their own countries. Additionally, each country has the opportunity to review and comment on the contents of the evaluations, ensuring an open and participatory process.

The Fifth Evaluation Round, covering the period 2007-2009, consisted of two phases. The full evaluation phase assessed progress made by all member states in combating the drug problem in the subject areas of institutional strengthening, demand reduction, supply reduction and control measures. This culminated with the publication of national reports containing 350 recommendations for individual member states. The follow-up phase evaluated progress made in the implementation of the recommendations assigned in the Fifth Round.

During the Fifth Evaluation Round, ten recommendations (seven reiterated from previous rounds) were assigned to Saint Lucia of which one has been completed, one is in progress, one has been withdrawn\(^1\) and seven have not commenced.

CICAD observes that Saint Lucia has conducted training related to the prevention and control of illicit traffic of pharmaceutical products and other drugs via the internet, which included members of the Police, Air and Sea Ports Authorities and Customs, among others.

CICAD notes that Saint Lucia has completed the Global Youth Tobacco Survey in 2011, but has not carried out other studies to determine the magnitude of drug use among secondary school students.

CICAD expresses concerns about the lack of progress on the implementation of seven recommendations relating to: the approval of its National Anti-Drug Plan; accession to the Inter-American Convention on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters, 1992, the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime, 2000 and its three protocols, and the United Nations Convention against Corruption, 2003; evaluation of drug prevention programs; establishing an administrative system to monitor and prevent diversion of pharmaceutical products; and establishing an automated information management system to facilitate the control and prevention of the diversion of pharmaceutical products.
