Evaluation of Progress in Drug Control

Implementation of Recommendations from the Fifth Evaluation Round

2012
PREFACE

The Multilateral Evaluation Mechanism (MEM) is an instrument designed to measure progress in actions taken by the member states of the Organization of American States (OAS) to address the global drug problem and other related offenses.

The Inter-American Drug Abuse Control Commission (CICAD), an OAS specialized agency, implemented this Mechanism in 1998, pursuant to a mandate from the Second Summit of the Americas held in Santiago, Chile in April 1988.

The MEM is not only a diagnostic tool but has also become a vehicle for disseminating information on the progress achieved through the individual and collective efforts of OAS member state governments, catalyzing hemispheric cooperation, promoting dialogue among member state government authorities, and precisely channeling assistance to areas requiring greater attention by optimizing resources.

The evaluation reports are drafted by the Governmental Expert Group (GEG), a multidisciplinary group composed of experts designated from all OAS/CICAD member states. Each expert functions independently from his or her own government, and experts do not participate in the evaluation of their own countries. Additionally, each country has the opportunity to review and comment on the contents of the evaluations, ensuring an open and participatory process.

The Fifth Evaluation Round, covering the period 2007-2009, consisted of two phases. The full evaluation phase assessed progress made by all member states in combating the drug problem in the subject areas of institutional strengthening, demand reduction, supply reduction and control measures. This culminated with the publication of national reports containing 350 recommendations for individual member states. The follow-up phase evaluated progress made in the implementation of the recommendations assigned in the Fifth Round.

CONCLUSIONS

Jamaica was assigned thirteen recommendations during the Fifth Evaluation Round; six were reiterated and seven were new recommendations. Jamaica has implemented two recommendations, and made progress on two; implementation of eight has not commenced, and one recommendation was withdrawn.\(^1\)

In the area of institutional strengthening, CICAD observes that Jamaica has not developed a National Anti-drug Plan, nor has the country ratified the Inter-American Convention against the Illicit Manufacturing of and Trafficking in Firearms, Ammunition, Explosives and other Related Materials (CIFTA).

With regard to demand reduction, CICAD acknowledges that Jamaica implemented drug prevention programs targeting school children 8-10 years of age, but has not yet evaluated existing prevention programs. In addition, Jamaica has developed official operating standards for treatment and rehabilitation facilities, but these standards are not yet approved. CICAD notes that the country has obtained technical and financial assistance to carry out a survey on drug use in the general population.

In the area of supply reduction, the country has not developed and implemented an automated information management system for the control of pharmaceuticals, nor has it implemented an automated management system to facilitate the handling of information related to the control of the diversion of chemical substances.

With regard to control measures, CICAD acknowledges that the country carried out training activities related to the prevention and control of illicit trafficking of pharmaceutical products via the Internet. However, Jamaica has not established a registry to compile data on persons convicted of illicit drug possession and trafficking, nor established the requirement for firearms to be marked for importation and official use after confiscation. CICAD notes that the country has not expanded the obligation to submit suspicious transaction reports to include lawyers, notaries, accountants, or the casinos and gambling sector.

CICAD recognizes Jamaica’s participation in the MEM process and encourages the country to continue its efforts to fully implement all of the recommendations.

\(^1\) Recommendation 13 was withdrawn.
