

Steven Griner

Director, Department of Public Security, Secretariat for Multidimensional Security, OAS

Steven Griner has worked at the Organization of American States for 29 years and currently serves as the Director of the Department for Public Security. Previously he served as the Director of the Department for Sustainable Democracy and Special Missions supervising the Mission to Support the Fight against Corruption and Impunity in Honduras and the Mission to Support the Peace Process in Colombia. He has served as Chief of the Electoral Observation Missions and the OAS Civil Identity Program of the Americas, which supported governments in Latin America and the Caribbean in providing birth certificates to citizens, particularly from marginalized communities. He has observed more than 50 elections in Latin America and the Caribbean, as well as Africa and Asia. Outside the OAS, he has served as Vice President – Americas for Laxton, Inc., a private company that provides biometric solutions in elections, identity, travel and security. He began his career at the National Democratic Institute for International Affairs in Washington, D.C..

Mr. Griner received a Master of Arts from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies and a Bachelors of Business Administration and Modern Languages from Texas A&M University.

He is a Returned Peace Corps Volunteer from Guatemala.